Recognition of entrepreneurial commitment

This award is a remarkable recognition of the work accomplished by the management team and all employees of Lemer Pax. It highlights a strategy built on innovation, industrial excellence, adaptability, and a long-term vision, serving key stakeholders across healthcare, energy, industry, and research, sectors that are at the heart of today's major societal challenges.

« This prestigious distinction is a source of great pride and acknowledges the collective efforts of all Lemer Pax employees, along with the strategic decisions implemented by the company's leadership. It celebrates an entrepreneurial journey built over the long term and driven by a shared ambition: to continue developing an innovative, high-performing, and responsible family-owned business.

Pierre-Marie LEMER, President of Lemer Pax

« Receiving this award is a real honour. It reflects the strength of our corporate vision and the daily commitment of our teams. This distinction encourages us to pursue our development with the same level of dedication and ambition. »

Valérie CHEVREUL, Chief Executive Officer of Lemer Pax

Lemer Pax: a company focused on the future

Through this distinction, EY also highlights the journey of Lemer Pax and its ability to combine growth, innovation, and long-term sustainability.

The company intends to continue its growth trajectory by building on its expertise, its people, and its ability to address evolving market needs. This recognition further strengthens its ambition: to establish Lemer Pax as a lasting reference in radiation protection and radiopharmacy, while continuing its international expansion.
